Enclosed is our opinion on the statements of expenditures of seven offices of independent counsel and one office of special counsel for the 6 months ended March 31, 2000. We are sending copies of this report to the Attorney General, the Director of the Administrative Office of the U.S. Courts, the independent counsels and special counsel included in our audit, and other interested parties. Copies will be made available to others upon request.

This report presents the results of our audits of expenditures¹ reported by seven offices of independent counsel and one office of special counsel for the 6 months ended March 31, 2000. The Department of Justice and the independent counsels are required under 28 U.S.C. 594(d)(2), (h), and 596(c)(1) (1994) to report on expenditures from a permanent, indefinite appropriation established within Justice to fund independent counsel activities. We are required under 28 U.S.C. 596(c)(2), to audit the statements of expenditures prepared by the independent counsels. We also audited the statements of expenditures of Special Counsel John C. Danforth, who is authorized by the Department of Justice to fund his operations from the permanent, indefinite appropriation.

We found that the statements of expenditures presented in appendixes I through VIII, for the offices of independent counsel Arlin M. Adams/Larry D. Thompson, David M. Barrett, Carol Elder Bruce, Ralph I. Lancaster, Daniel S. Pearson, Donald C. Smaltz, and Kenneth W. Starr/Robert W. Ray, and special counsel John C. Danforth, respectively, were fairly presented in all material respects. Our consideration of internal controls, which was limited for the purpose of determining our procedures for auditing the statements of expenditures, disclosed no material weaknesses. Further, our audits included limited tests of compliance with laws and regulations that disclosed no reportable instances of noncompliance with the laws and regulations we tested.

The following sections provide background information, outline each conclusion in more detail, and discuss the scope of our audits.

Background

The Ethics in Government Act of 1978 amended title 28 of the United States Code to authorize the judicial appointment of independent counsels when the Attorney General determines that reasonable grounds exist to warrant further investigation of high-ranking government officials for certain alleged crimes. The independent counsel law (28 U.S.C. 591-599 (1994)) was intended to preserve and promote the accountability and integrity of public officials and of the institutions of the federal government. The independent counsel law expired on June 30, 1999. Provisions of the law allow the independent counsels serving at the expiration date to continue investigating pending matters until they determine that the investigations of such matters have been completed. Also, the Department of Justice determined that the appropriation established by Public Law 100-202 to fund expenditures by independent counsels appointed pursuant to 28 U.S.C. 591-599, or other law, is available to fund the expenditures of John C. Danforth, who was appointed as a Special Counsel within the Department of Justice by the Attorney General.

	The independent counsel law directs the Department of Justice to pay all costs relating to the establishment and operation of independent counsel offices and designates specific responsibilities to the Administrative Office of the U.S. Courts (AOUSC) for independent counsels' administrative support. Justice periodically disburses lump-sum payments to AOUSC for this purpose.
	During any 6-month period, there may be other significant costs incurred in support of the work of the counsels, which are paid from appropriations other than the permanent, indefinite appropriation established to fund independent counsel activities. These costs arise when a counsel uses detailees from other federal agencies, such as the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI). Independent counsels are not required to reflect such costs in their statements of expenditures and neither the independent counsels nor special counsel do so. However, to the extent practicable the counsels identified and discussed these costs in the notes to their statements presented in the appendixes to this report.
	These statements and related notes do not include certain expenditures related to the investigation by independent counsel Curtis E. von Kann's (formerly Independent Counsel Sealed-1996) office which officially closed effective November 30, 1998, and accordingly, no longer prepares financial statements. However, $3,513 in expenditures occurred during this period for installation of a security system in 1998.
Opinion on Statements of Expenditures	The counsels prepared their statements of expenditures principally on a cash basis of accounting, which is a comprehensive basis of accounting other than generally accepted accounting principles. The bases of accounting are described in note 1 of each counsel's statement.

	In our opinion, the statements of expenditures including the accompanying notes for the offices of independent counsel Arlin M. Adams/Larry D. Thompson, David M. Barrett, Carol Elder Bruce, Ralph I. Lancaster, Daniel S. Pearson, Donald C. Smaltz, and Kenneth W. Starr/Robert W. Ray, and for the office of special counsel John C. Danforth present fairly, in all material respects, the expenditures of these counsels for the 6 months ended March 31, 2000, on the basis of accounting described in note 1 to each office's statement.
Consideration of Internal Control Structure	We gained an understanding of internal controls whose objectives are to (1) safeguard assets against loss from unauthorized acquisition, use, or disposition; (2) assure the execution of transactions in accordance with laws governing the use of budget authority and with other laws and regulations that have a direct and material effect on the statements of expenditures; and (3) properly record, process, and summarize transactions to permit the preparation of reliable statements of expenditures and to maintain accountability for assets.
	The purpose of our consideration of internal controls was to determine our procedures for auditing the statements of expenditures and, accordingly, we do not express an opinion on internal controls. However, for the controls we tested, we found no material weaknesses or other reportable conditions in the internal control structure and its operations for the 6-month period ended March 31, 2000. A material weakness is a reportable condition in which the design or operation of one or more of the internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that misstatements caused by error or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their duties. Our internal control work would not necessarily identify all material weaknesses.
Compliance With Laws and Regulations	Our tests for compliance with selected provisions of laws and regulations disclosed no instances of noncompliance that would be reportable under generally accepted government auditing standards. However, the objective of our audit was not to provide an opinion on overall compliance with laws and regulations. Accordingly, we do not express such an opinion.

Objectives, Scope, and Methodology	In order to carry out their financial operations and to ensure accountability, independent counsels are responsible for preparing statements of expenditures in conformity with the bases of accounting described in the accompanying notes. Though not required to do so, the special counsel also elected to prepare statements of expenditures. The counsels are also responsible for establishing and maintaining an internal control structure to provide reasonable assurance that the internal control objectives previously mentioned are met, and for complying with applicable laws and regulations.
	In carrying out our work, we are responsible for obtaining reasonable assurance about whether the statements of the counsels are presented fairly, in all material respects, in conformity with the bases of accounting described in the accompanying notes. Also, we are responsible for obtaining a sufficient understanding of internal controls to plan the audits and for testing compliance with selected provisions of laws and regulations.
	In order to fulfill these responsibilities, for each counsel, we (1) examined, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the statement of expenditures and notes attached thereto, except items indicated as unaudited; (2) assessed the accounting principles used by management; (3) evaluated the overall presentation of the statement of expenditures; (4) obtained an understanding of the internal control structure related to safeguarding assets, compliance with laws and regulations (including execution of transactions in accordance with budget authority), and financial reporting; (5) tested relevant internal controls over safeguarding assets, compliance, and financial reporting; and (6) tested compliance with certain aspects of selected provisions of 28 U.S.C. 591-599 (1994), 5 U.S.C. Chapter 55, and regulations relating to pay administration.
	We limited our internal control testing to those controls necessary to achieve the objectives outlined in our statement on internal controls. Because of inherent limitations in any internal control structure, losses, noncompliance, or misstatements may nevertheless occur and not be detected. We also caution that projecting our evaluation to future periods is subject to the risk that controls may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the degree of compliance with controls may deteriorate.

We did not test compliance with all laws and regulations applicable to the offices of independent and special counsel. We limited our tests of compliance to those which we deemed applicable to the statements of expenditures. We caution that noncompliance may occur and not be detected by these tests and that such testing may not be sufficient for other purposes.

We obtained, but did not audit, information on costs that were not paid from the permanent, indefinite appropriation as well as information on receipts. We obtained information on these costs and receipts from the independent and special counsel offices; the Department of Justice, including the FBI; the Department of the Treasury, including the Internal Revenue Service; the U.S. Postal Service; and the Office of Inspector General for the Department of Agriculture.

We discussed the results of our work with representatives of the seven offices of independent counsel, the office of the special counsel, the Department of Justice, and AOUSC, and have incorporated their comments where appropriate.

We performed our audits in accordance with generally accepted government auditing standards.

The statement of expenditures includes only expenditures made from the permanent, indefinite appropriation for the office of independent counsel that are processed through the Administrative Office of the U.S. Courts (AOUSC) and the OIC. Mr. Starr was appointed on August 5, 1994, to assume the investigation of possible violations of federal criminal law in Re: Madison Guaranty Savings and Loan Association and other entities, which was begue by regulatory Independent Counsel Robert B. Fiske, Jr. The U.S. Court of Appeals subsequently expanded OIC-Starr's jurisdiction to include selected White House Travel Office and access-to-personnel-file issues on March 22 1996, and June 21, 1996, respectively. On October 25, 1996, it further expanded OIC-Starr's jurisdiction to include issues related to statements made before the Government Reform and Oversight Committee, U.S. Hous of Representatives, on June 26, 1996. On January 16, 1998, the Court expanded OIC-Starr's jurisdiction to include issues related to whether, in a civil case, certain individuals suborned perjury, obstructed justice, intimidate witnesses, or otherwise violated federal law in dealing with witnesses, potential witnesses, attorneys, or others. On October 18, 1999, Mr. Starr resigned his appointment, and was succeeded by Robert W. Ray as independent counsel effective the same date. On March 16, 2000, Mr. Ray submitted to the Special Division of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Distric of Columbia Circuit two final reports on (1) the access-to-personnel-files issues and (2) the issues related to statements made before the Government Reform and Oversight Committee. On July 28, 2000, the Court ordered the public release of the two reports. The remainder of the investigation is ongoing.	t at 2) in 2, ee ed et rt
